TO THE TRADE

Camellia japonicas are winter flowering novelties, rapidly coming back into favor as cut flowers for "cool" greenhouse culture, and as ornamental evergreens in the outdoor gardens of the South.

You can grow and sell Camellias at a profit in times like these.

Consult our 24 page illustrated catalogue for descriptions of twenty choice varieties and authoritative historical data.

Extra copy of this lithographed catalogue available for 10c in stamps. It is the only illustrated Camellia catalogue published in the United States. A Copy should be in your file.

Space in Price List No. 63 does not permit description and illustration of the infinite varieties and tens of thousands of potted Camellias we are growing.

Visiting florists and nurserymen tell us they have never seen finer or as many varieties in any of their travels.

"Longview" Camellias are grown successfully in nearly every State of the union. You can buy them with assurance of complete satisfaction.

Prices in this list are subject to the following trade discounts:

Orders for 1 to 9 plants, 25% off the list.

Orders for 10 to 49 plants, 33 1-3% with additional 5% off.

Orders for 50 or more plants, 33 1-3% off with additional 10% off.

TERMS—Cash with order, or 25 per cent deposit, balance C. O. D. If full remittance accompanies order, no charge made for packing. Otherwise packing charged at cost. Sales on credit terms not solicited this season.

Each Camellia from "Longview" is tagged with an embossed copper label, a permanent record, indicating the variety. This is our guarantee the plants are true to description, variety, form and color.

It is to your advantage to order promptly, as plants with flower buds will be furnished without extra charge, so long as they are available.

Camellias from "Longview" will satisfy you. Send your order in today.

Sincerely,

"Longview"

CHOICE POT GROWN CAMELLIAS

FROM

"Longview"

In comparing our prices you will note we designate size of pot, age of plant, average height, character of growth. Nothing is left to your imagination. It pays to buy larger size plants since Camellias should not be allowed to bloom until four or more years old.

LOT 1

SARAH FROST—Red, full double rose form, vigorous grower, an old favorite, good cut flower, blooms mid-season.

4" pot, 3 yr. old, 16-24", slightly branched, each.....	$1.50

6" pot, 6 yr. old, 42-48", branched, few in bud.....	4.50

LOT 3

TEUTONIA—Magnificent full double of marvelous beauty, most valuable for cut flower use. While the parent plant thrives in the open and has stood 10 degrees above zero, mild winter weather is needed if perfect flowers are to be expected. It is particularly adapted for greenhouse or conservatory where a uniform cool temperature is maintained during the winter. Blossoms 3½ to 4 inches across, very flat, and symmetrical, each petal having incurved tips. Petals diminish in size to center. Produces pure white, white with suffusion of pink, solid shell pink and variable marked white and pink flowers, often on the same stem and branch. A glorious type of Camellia admired by every fancier. Blooms February and March.

5" pot, 4 yr. old, 15-18", branched.....	$3.00
6" pot, 5 yr. old, 24-30", branched, with few buds.....	5.00
7" pot, 6 yr. old, 24-30", well branched and budded.....	7.00

LOT 4

ALBA FIMBRIATA—As name indicates edges of petals are fringed (toothed). Flower pure white 4 inches across. This is a sport from ALBA PLENA. Size of flower, period of bloom same as ALBA PLENA. Character of growth more compact. A magnificent white, rare in commerce.

4" pot, 3 yr. old, 12-18", slightly branched.....	$2.00
4" pot, 3 yr. old, 18-24", slightly branched.....	3.00
